

Earth s Cry (Paperback)

By Jan Morgan

Wipf Stock Publishers, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Global warming, melting ice-caps, shrinking rainforests, depletion of fish populations, rising sea-levels, species extinctions - these realities are now known to us, the words are familiar yet deeply unsettling and profoundly unwelcome. The enormity and complexity of the issues often leave us confused, despairing or simply numb. For Christians, a strange dissociation often seems to exist between the ecological crisis and a heritage that includes a Creator God. This book turns to the prophetic tradition - a tradition generated in the dislocation of crises in the past. Drawing this tradition into engagement with the ecological humanities (particularly eco-philosophy and eco-theology) and with ministry studies, the author discovers root memories that hold. Here is wisdom that could unleash our passion and energy by challenging us to attend to Earth s cry, to own the misuse of our power in silencing Earth s cry, to learn that grief is radical criticism and to imagine daring alternatives. A response to the ecological crisis is nothing less than a call to a fresh and radical vocation - to eco-prophetic ministry....
