Excerpt: .incorporated them in his army, with a promotion; for which act of justice he. never had any reason to complain. The fluctuations in the designs of the government are well portrayed in the following letter from Lord Cochrane to the supreme director: - . Most Ext. Sir --.-Being at.present: indisposed witha palpitation of my heart, which at timesi afflicts me most severely, and which would be increased with a journey to Santiago, were I to undertake it according to the request ofitlrs government, lfeol myself obliged to solicit an excuse; persuaded as I am, that the following exposition, which contains all that is necessary to remind you to reflect on what is past, and to Anticipate what is to come, will be sufficient. I also hope that my exposition will be ascribed to the sincere desire that I have of serving your excellency, to whose interests I am most sincerely attached, as being the august representative of the sacred cause of your country s welfare. Touching on what is past, you will do me the honour to recollect, that.I recommended to you the indispensable necessity of. removing among the seamen all kinds of distrust with respect to.their pay and pr.u: e.-money: the first Qf which they have not yet received, and of the second they have been totally defrauded; your exeellency promised me that they should be regularly paid, and that. whatever prizes were taken should be entirely appropriated to these two objects; the..
